John,

Just left you a voicemail. The government does not accept this position. You can start producing documents tomorrow or you can file a motion for relief from the court. Otherwise we intend to file a motion to compel and for sanctions against Google. If you would like to discuss let me know.

Mr. Kravis:

Apologies if you are receiving this twice, my first email bounced. I am following up on behalf of my colleague John Roche, who is traveling today. We understand that Mr. Benton intends to appeal the Magistrate Judge's ruling and is seeking expedited review as well as an order staying Google's compliance with the warrant. In light of this development, Google will await the outcome of the Court's ruling on this matter before proceeding. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you,

Randy

Subject: Search Warrant and Denied Motion to Quash

Google Legal Compliance,

On July 25, 2014, the attached search warrant for [REDACTED] was served via email on Google. Shortly thereafter a Motion to Quash the warrant was filed in the Southern District of Iowa. The Motion to Quash was denied today (August 10, 2015) and the Court Order denying the Motion to Quash is attached.

Now that the Motion to Quash has been denied, please provide the emails sought in the search warrant to my attention at the address below as soon as possible. If you have questions, please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you.
